For the prevention and cure o BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

THERE came to the stables of the subscriber, on Monday the 1st inst. a person calling himself and obtained a horse and gig on hire, as he said, to go to Ellicott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints.

I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 20 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me, No. 26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The commissioners being at length arrived, it is to be presumed that the public will obtain some information through the channel of the department of state, on the subject of the mission. No matter what it is, the people expect it, and it is presumed, that although the constitution and the senate were shoved aside, and the mission dispatched under presidential prerogative, a decent respect for the public sentiment so explicitly and universally expressed throughout the nation, will not be lost sight of on an occasion so momentous, and full of future good or evil for the United States.

We are of the same opinion now that we were when the mission sailed. No men more capable, or to be more relied on, than the three ambassadors sent to Buenos Ayres; whatever sound and pure minds, strict republican virtues, and invincible integrity could do, they were equal to any other men that could be found; but we never could imagine, nor would either of those men have pretended to accomplish, more than reason could expect of the most enlightened men to accomplish.

When we noticed this mission, on its departure, we urged the impracticability of those, or any three men in existence, or who ever existed, to obtain that knowledge of South America, by a visit of three or six months, which could enable them, or those who were to be informed by them, to form any judgments beyond the general principles of the revolution, and the rights of man to rescue himself from despotism, political and religious.

We shall see, when the official communications shall be made, what will be the result. Meanwhile, we shall venture to anticipate some important points, upon which, although the public has been already informed, through this paper, will be now corroborated by official information.

We have repeatedly represented to the North American reader, that, as happened during the revolution of North America; so it has happened during the revolution in the South, that some of the most zealous promoters of the revolution and of independence had contemplated forming a hole.

We saw some time since in a Kentucky paper, a letter from an American at Buenos Ayres to a gentleman in Kentucky; common rumor attributes this letter to Mr. Breckenridge who went out secretary of legation: and it is said to have been addressed to Henry Clay, Esq. In that letter it is alledged, that there never was any design in Buenos Ayres to establish a monarchy, and the fact is attempted to be derided out of credit.

We undertake to say, whoever may be the author, or to whomsoever the letter was addressed, that the denial was disingenuous, and that the fact of such a design is notoriously true.

This, we repeat it, will appear, unless the friends of the hole undertake to suppress the truth, and impose further deceit upon the country. We assert it as a fact, that Pueyrredon, the Supreme director of Buenos Ayres, did, with others, send to Europe, agents, whose special business it was, to assure support to the establishment of a monarchy, and a nobility hole in Buenos Ayres.

This will appear, should the representations of the public agents be done justice to, and the public be faithfully informed on what so deeply concerns them.

It will further appear that general Artigas by nobly resisting this meditated design of creating a hole for a no-ability, has arrested the design, and prevented the creation of a nobility hole.

It will however appear, should the executive give a fair statement to the country, that although in manners, as might be expected; and in imperfect knowledge of those details of social policy by which the persons and the property and the political rights of men are preserved; and the modes of conducting elections; though these forms are but little known to the mass of South Americans, yet that those great principles of human right out of which grow the details of administration, are understood and revered by the great mass of the people, and the general principles of civil liberty as sacredly regarded.

It will appear that there is much private ambition, and that as in the American revolution, the selfish and clamorous demagogues, clamorous for that liberty under the mask of which they covered their hatred of human rights and the disposition to trample the people in the dust under color of their not being well born—it will appear that such fancied well-borns, have attempted to rear themselves upon the necks of the people—but that their aspiring has spread alarm, and that they already anticipate that any further attempts to establish a hole would be to assure themselves a gibbet.

It cannot be expected of the ambassadors, that from a residence so short, and in a city like Buenos Ayres, which aspires to be the capital and the centre of South American legislation and power: it cannot be expected that a residence of a few weeks there, and a few days at Monte Video, can have enabled them to furnish such a statement of the mind and circumstances of the whole country, as is to be desired,

They have, however, seen enough to know, that the whole power of Europe is incompetent to reduce by force, the South Amercans to European domination; and that whatever may be their modifications of government, it will be self-government, independent of Europe.

Major Cutler of the southern army, who passed through this place a few days ago, informed us that the notorious chief Ou,ta, se,mic,co or Mic,co,de,ca,e, who has been for some time past very active in exciting the Indians to hostility against the whites, was executad at Fort Gaines on the 28th ult. by a party of the U,fau,la Indians.—No murders or depredations have been committed on the frontiers, by the Indians, recently. Major Dinkins, with a detachment of about two hundred and fifty soldiers of the 4th regiment of infantry, left Fort Hawkins on Wednesday last, for Pensacola, via Fort Gaines. We understand general Gaines has removed his head quarters to Fort Hawkins.

[Milledgeville Reflector, July 14.

SEMINOLES.

Mr. Timothy Bearnard in a letter to captain W. S. Mitchell, dated on the 4th inst. states that four red men have been sent up as a deputation from the Seminoles to sue for peace. They say as they have made up their minds to remain in peace with the white people, they hope the white people will remain so with them. The hostile Indians have assembled at Alotchewa, and have nothing to subsist on but a few cattle. The Indians say that the whites on the frontier of this state have taken a great many of their cattle. [Ibid.

When the news first reached us of the unfortunate attack on the friendly Indian village of Chehaw, by a party of militia headed by captain Obed Wright, we expressed our earnest hope, that the government would, as far as in its power lay, redress the injuries inflicted on this hapless people. We are glad to find we were not disappointed in a firm reliance on the just and humane dispositions of those who administer our government.

We now learn, from an authentic source, that upon general Jackson's representation of the unauthorised destruction of the Chehaw village, prompt measures were adopted to relieve the sufferers from their distress. The Indian agent, (gov. Mitchell) was directed to assure them, that ample remuneration for their losses would be made. To effect this object, the sum of ten thousand dollars was transmitted to him six weeks ago, accompanied by instructions to ascertain, as speedily as possible, the extent of the injury, and apply the whole of that sum, if necessary, to the relief of the injured and distressed. From a statement lately made in the Georgia papers, it would appear, that the sum would abundantly remunerate them for all their losses.

The agent was also directed to assure the warriors, that measures would be immediately adopted to bring the commander of the expedition to trial under the laws of the United States. A commission has accordingly issued to the Judges of the Federal court, as the Savannah paper has correctly stated, to hold an extra session for his trial. [Nat. Intelligencer, July 24.

Norfolk, July 22.

EARTHQUAKE AT SEA.

The following is an extract from the log book of the schooner Major Croghan, capt. Wootten, arrived at this port on Friday last from Gibraltar.—[Reading R. Books.

"May 28th, lat. 25, 59, long. 11, 41, at noon, extremely warm and sultry, wind SE—at 3 P M sensibly felt a severe shock of an earthquake, which commenced under the bottom of the vessel: the sensation and sound nearly the same as if the vessel had repeatedly struck hard bottom, or was grounding on a shoal. Its duration was about 15 seconds, and it ended with a rumbling noise to the NW. Middle and latter part squally."

New-York, July 22.

SPANISH POLITENESS.

Captain Schuyler, of the brig Lady Mary Pelham, from Bordeaux, has communicated to us the following memorandum for publication.

June 4, in lat. 43, 13, long. 15, 20, at 3, 30 P. M. the wind from the North; and standing to the Westward, close hauled upon a wind, saw two sail ahead. About 4. P. M. made them out to be ships carrying a press of sail—and shortly after shortened sail and exchanged signals. They were both armed—the largest mounted 24 guns, figure head, and yellow sides, heavy quarter galleries chiefly painted white. The smallest ship had a white woman figure head, and one streak around—both had royal yards rigged aloft, when they closed with us.—The smallest ship passed to windward of us within grape distance, and hoisting English colors, fired three shot, well aimed, from the waist, at the L. M. Pelham—although our courses were hauled up, and main-yard aback, and our colours flying, and the female passengers on deck, which they could plainly see. The other ship hove too at the same time upon our lee bow, and hoisted a King's Spanish ensign and pendant. The first shot from the Spaniard went over us, between the fore and main-mast—the second with round and grape close under our bow, and the third went close upon the forecastle, near the foremast, and struck a few yards to leeward. After which the small ship bore up and run close under our stern, and ordered us to send our boat on board immediately, and when within a short pistol shot under our lee, and we in the act of lowering the boat down, the female and all the gentlemen passengers upon deck, having got over their fright a little after such a rough salute, the cowardly rascals, thinking the opportunity too good to let us pass, in a deliberate manner, fired a volley of musketry into us, which fortunately killed no one, nor wounded any, but several shot went through the main, and others over the quarter deck.

I actually concluded there was war declared between the United States and Spain, not knowing otherwise how to account for such villanous treatment. I ordered the colours hauled down—and after shearing off from along side the brig, was then within half pistol shot of us, he had still a gang aloft with their muskets pointed at us, and I expected every moment they would shoot all hands in the boat. In the interim, while I went on board the small ship with my papers, the Pelham was boarded by an armed boat and an officer from the large ship. By the passengers I was informed, that the officer made many inquiries displaying the most consumate ignorance, corresponding with his appearance—he wanted to persuade one of the passengers, that he was the captain of the Pelham, and would not believe that she was from Bordeaux—He was asked upon coming upon deck, if war was declared between Spain and the United States, which he answered in the negative, but that he expected it hourly, and bragged how the Spaniards would give the Americans segars to smoke, if it came to a war. He was very lavish of his abuse, and said that they were recommended by the Captain General of the Havana, not to respect the American flag—and said it was his opinion that the Americans were a d—d set of pirates and puppies. It is supposed that the abovementioned ships were bound to Corruna from Havana.

DIVING BELL.

A company of adventurers are now operating with the diving bell on the wreck of the British Frigate Hussar, which sunk in Hurlgate during the revolutionary war.—Two or three years ago a part of the same company labored with considerable success on the wreck, and raised property which rewarded them pretty well. The Hussar is known to have had a quantity of specie on board when she sunk, which is the grand object of the present labors.—The position of the wreck has hitherto prevented the bell from dropping within the Hulk—but by great exertion large masses of the wreck are sawed out, and elated with hope, the persevering adventurers are approaching the golden prize. The bell descends about 60 feet.

DESTRUCTIVE WHIRLWIND.

On Tuesday, the 7th instant, a whirlwind commenced at Mr. John Toner's in Mifflin township. It proceeded to Mr. Lowmiller's before it done any damage, where it took off some hay. Mr. John Bennet's horse shed, was unroofed, an apendage to his barn demolished, and about twenty apple trees destroyed. Changing its course shortly after, it came in contact with the house and barn of Mr. John Hughs, the latter of which it entirely unroofed, and razed a part thereof nearly to the ground. Here its progress seemed in some degree to be checked; but immediately renewing its fury, unroofed his still house: and passing through his orchard, destroyed a number of fruit trees—his poultry was all carried off, and has not been seen since. From thence it crossed the river, taking up the water so as to expose the bottom. Fences, grain, &c. and even the largest trees were prostrated. Shingles and boards were carried off from 1 to 2 miles. The damage is estimated at between 2 and 3000 dollars.

FLORIDA.

The possession of Florida directs our attention to the history of this country. The never to be forgotten American Biographer, Dr. Belknap, published two volumes of his biography, and in the first he took notice of Ferdinand Soto, who was distinguished by his services in Florida. The European account of him is, that he was from Portugal, and a companion to Pizarro in the conquest of Peru. That he was known not more by his courage, than his ability to promote the views of Spain in America. His visit to America was a century before our settlements. Charles V. made him governor of Cuba, and general of Florida, and he came into Florida in 1538, and died after having passed above three years in the country. He deserves the highest honor for his active services, in which he sacrificed his life. Our biographer seems not to have put that value upon his services which has been decreed in Europe, and introduces him to show that the works now found scattered over America were not of European origin. But when we recollect that he did not live to report his discoveries, and has left proofs of his indefatigable labors, where every modern aid has not assisted greater discoveries, or more extensive researches, we shall be ready to give every tribute to the enterprise of an unsuccessful adventurer. But our present object is to introduce our reader to this man of unexampled perseverance, upon his visit to Florida, and by the character of his services as given by the American biographer. From Havana he reached the Bay of Florida in May, 1539. His company was six hundred men. In search of gold he passed incessantly from place to place, in every direction, as the different accounts he received invited him. He passed the rivers and braved all dangers. In his contests with the natives he was successful, but great losses were felt by him. In his different routes he found the Mississippi, and became on its banks the victim of his zeal, from the fatigue to which it exposed him. After his death the troops which remained, being above half of the first number, passed down the Mississippi upon their return to Cuba. It is not easy to trace the routes which he took, but it will be difficult to find more labor bestowed, or better, when we consider that his attention was claimed to the wealth or gold he could find. If the Spaniards did not profit directly from the expedition, he supplied the full conviction that it was not in this part of America to be found. The avidity with which gold was sought, may be discovered from the account of one of his countrymen and companions. Upon his visit to the queen of the country, she gave him a chain of pearl from her neck. The country before him was delightful, and the people appeared so contented and happy, that the queen soon discovered that nothing was so dear to her new visitants as the pearl she had given them. Unable to supply what the people of the country had made one of their principal ornaments, she directed Soto to search the graves of the deserted towns he had visited, which he did readily, and found near four hundred weight of these riches. The description of the queen's situation is that of a good soil, with rich pastures and meadows, with woods and rivers, and with a a country abounding with the best trees, and with walnut and mulberry tree. That her subjects were of good form, quiet manners, and well clothed.

The thin population was explained in Florida as it has been in New-England, by some desolating sickness of which we have only the Indian tradition, without any fact, but the condition of the country. Of that part to which our attention is now directed, we have the account of a very intelligent modern traveller, who was here before the American revolution, in 1773, at the request of Dr. Fothergill, to search the Floridas for natural history, particularly in the vegetable riches of it. He gives a very pleasant description of Alachua, from which Mr. Bertram entered the pine forest, and soon passed to the old Spanish highway from St. Augustine, across the Isthmus of Florida, to St. Mark's in the bay of Apalache. The course and distance of this rout is from east to west, from St. Augustine to Fort Picolala on the river St. John, 27 miles, thence across the river to Poopoa Fort 3 miles, thence to the Alachua Savannah 45 miles, thence to Talahasochte, on the River LittleSt. John, 75 miles, thence down this river to St. Marks 30 miles, the whole distance from Augustine to St. Marks, one hundred and eighty miles. This is the distance across the isthmus in about latitude 30, not far from the latitude of the shore of the continent, and not a degree south of the entrance of the bays of Pensacola and Mobile, with about 5 degrees difference of longitude from the west side of the Isthmus. The visit to Cuscowilla is not described as very different from that of Soto to the Queen of the Country, nearly three centuries before. The Chief was surrounded by his ancient men, and the women appeared with chcerfulness and a desire to please. Near the path was a large artificial mound of earth, on a most charming, high situation, supposed to be the work of the ancient inhabitants, with traces of an ancient town. At the village a brook passed which entered a lake near it. After the pipe of peace and refreshment, the purpose of the visit was explained, and Bertram received the name of Puc Puggy or the Flower Hunter, and had unlimited permission to pursue the object of his visit. As a further settlement of the English Treaty was proposed, arrangements were made for this purpose. The Indians were addicted to the religious and civil manners of the Spaniards, which they still retained with all their enmities to the Spanish people. The slaves were permitted to marry among them, but their children were free, but they were not in their own persons allowed to be free. The slaves were the most abject, but mild, peaceable and submissive, while the free Indians were bold, active and clamorous; as Mr. Bertram says, they differ as widely as the bull & ox. Describing the country, he tells us the extensive Alachua savannah is a level green plain, above fifteen miles over, fifty miles in circumference, with scarcely a bush or a tree, surrounded by hills and forests, from a very fertile soil. At the terrible appearance of the painted, fearless, uncontrouled and free Seminole, the peaceful innocent nations are at once thrown into disorder and dismay. This ingenious traveller then describes Cuscowilla, the new town, and observes on the landscape, such a rural scene is not to be imitated by the united ingenuity and labour of man. That much remains to be done in this much neglected country, has been made to appear by a late account from Georgia. With its natural riches we are yet unacquainted, but the following fact deserves attention. Says the description from the Savannah Republican, for 20 years last past there has not been exported from East Florida one barrel of turpentine; whereas, when it was an infant colony of Great Britain, one contractor shipped from St. John's river in one season 20,000 barrels. The writer supposing the St. John's equal to the Savannah river, which is hardly the case, observes, that from the Savannah, hundreds of vessels are loaded, while the whole of East Florida does not load ten a year. The experiment made by the English may satisfy us what may easily be done, when Florida is well settled and well governed. The whole population at the beginning of this century, was given at 10,000 for both Floridas, and this number included the Spaniards, French, English, and Greeks, from the Turkish Archipeligo, and the Island of Minorca, without regard to the Indian inhabitants.

The military operations of the U. States are given in the official documents. The surrender of Pensacola was known in Cuba, and the Government of Florida, since the surrender, had been permitted to retire to that Island. The whole history of these events has been sent to the American Government, and the Spanish Minister had returned to Washington to take the necessary explanations of the administration. We can need no other explanations till the President shall judge them expedient for the national safety.

EXECUTION OF GERMAN BANDITTI.

In the early part of last year we announced to our readers the conviction and execution of the leader and principals of a desperate gang of banditti, which had for several years previous held the inhabitants at the mouth of the Elbe, and its vicinity, in constant terror by their frequent and lawless outrages; for the following particulars of the excution of these wretches, which are curious, as they exhibit a picture, perhaps new to most of our readers, of the criminal process in that part of Germany, we are indebted to the common-place book of a gentleman who was an eye-witness of what he describes.

This band of desperadoes, about thirty in number, had for many years practised the most alarming and extensive midnight depredations upon the south bank of the Elbe; their numbers either defying attack, or their dexterity eluding the vigilance of the officers of justice sent in pursuit of them. At length the cruelties inflicted by them upon their victims, most frequently unprotected females, and of a description too indelicate to relate, for the purpose of extorting a discovery of concealed property, roused the neighborhood to exercise and led to the detection of the offenders. The leaders and chief proportion of these wretches, proved to be farmers, many of them wealthy, and residing in a line extending along the Elbe, from Stickenbuttle and Cuxhaven, through the towns of Ottendorff and Nergehouse to Frieburgh, embracing a tract of about 30 English miles.

Their operations were usually conducted upon a system, which in a few hours, would collect a gang, and enable them to carry on their villanous designs on a most extensive scale. Their Chief named Koster, with his lieutenant, Lunder, and his own son, third in command, all lived on their respective farms, at Stickenbuttle. Koster wore a cocked hat, and very appropriately assumed the title of Napoleon, by which he was usually addressed by his comrades.

The apprehension of the six principal miscreants had taken place as long since as the latter end of the year 1815; but having been tried by the laws of Hamburgh, according to the established practice, the whole of the evidence, with the sentence, was submitted to the head professor of the university of Cottingen, whose confirmation of judgment is seldom obtained in less than from one to two years, leaving the culprits in a state of suspense, which usually terminates in indifference or forgetfulness of their approaching fate. Such was the case with these unhappy wretches; after a long confinement and hard labor in the castle of Ritzebuttel, on the 26th April, 1817, confirmation of the sentence was received, with directions for its immediate execution. Koster, sen. and Lunder were condemned to the block, and the others to perpetual and various periods of imprisonment, viz: *12, 15 and 25 years. On the judgment being publicly read by the Licentente, the governor pronounced the sentence in the following words:—"The law is spoken, the stick is broken, sinners you must die;" at the same time breaking a small stick of about 12 inches in length, painted black, with white ends, as usual on such occasions. On this declaration the executioner, Hannings, stepped up with his attendants to the two condemned robbers, telling them they were now left to him, and that on Monday the 28th they would lose their heads; his assistant very jocosely assuring them that they could not have fallen into better hands than his master, who would relieve them of their heads in a moment, and without any pain. On the Monday morning they were conveyed from the castle in a waggon to the fort at Stickenbuttel, where, upon a small eminence, the sentence of the law was first indicted upon Lunder, who, being placed in a chair, a handkerchief was tied over his eyes, and a black ribbon under his chin and over his head, and held up by his assistant, when, with one blow of a two edged sword, the executioner severed his head from his body, amidst the acclamations of the spectators. The blood issued as from a fountain, and a glass being filled with it, was drank in the presence of the multitude by a young woman named Weiling, as an infallible cure for the apoplexy. Koster's execution immediately followed in a similar manner—when the executioner holding up the two heads, and taking off his cap, saluted the people, being greeted with loud applauses and clapping of hands. To a person who has witnessed the solemnity of an English execution, it was not the least revolting part of this ceremony to see the wretched sufferers unattended by any clergyman, and incessantly plied with liquors to a state of complete intoxication. Although we do not profess an unqualified approbation of our own criminal code, we cannot refrain from a comparison which certainly must be gratifying to us as men, and Englishmen.

By an arrival at Boston on the 21st inst. from Liverpool, flour was selling at that place on the 9th June, at 50 shillings.

Piano-Fortes and Organs.

THE subscriber, who carries on the manufacture of these instruments in N. York, is now in Alexandria, where he will remain a short time, during which he will attend to repair, regulate the action and improve their tones and musical effects.—A specimen of his work and abilities may be examined in the store second door below the Mechanics' Bank, King street, where he offers for sale two of his Piano-Fortes at the New-York prices—one of them an elegant upright grand, of a full bodied mellow tone and brilliant touch—the other is of the horizontal sextagon form, highly finished, with extra additional keys. He warrants them perfectly sound, and of the first quality.—He will allow in exchange a fair price for old pianos or organs, being such as he approves.—He also has for sale a few fine toned old violins and elegant bows, and concert flutes.—He is perfectly acquainted with the harpsichord construction, and offers to put them in complete order.

Orders left at the store, or at Mr. Abercrombi's, cabinet-maker, or at Capt. Nelson's, King street, will be promptly attended to on his return to New-York.

50 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber on Saturday night the 27th ult, a Negro man by the name of JACOB THOMPSON, aged 22 or 23, nearly 6 feet high, very black, and rather a down look when spoken to—he is very apt to put one hand up to his chin when answering questions. He is a very submissive orderly fellow—His clothing that can be recollected consisted of a blue second cloth coat with yellow buttons, nearly new; Russia sheeting shirts and trowsers, and a variety of other clothing not recollected. I fully expect he must have from 150 to 200 dollars with him in money—and very little doubt but he had furnished himself with free papers. Whoever takes up the said fellow, secures him in jail, and retains all moneys and papers he may have on him, shall be entitled to the money found on him, and the above reward if taken out of the District; or twenty dollars if taken within the District of Columbia. To the friends of Humanity.

AN aged, infirm and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a tailor. Vague rumour has recently pronounced him dead. A letter communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwieler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an afflicted woman.

☞ Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.

Valuable Land for Sale.

I WILL sell the farm on which I reside, known by the name of Indian Town, and containing about one thousand acres. It is situated in Charles Co. Md. on Nanjemoy Creek near its mouth, about seven miles from Port Tobacco, and forty from Washington City. Few farms combine greater advantages than this; added to a fertility of soil equal to any in the country, it binds on the creek nearly two miles, which affords great facility in getting its productions to market, and precludes the necessity of much fencing; the creek affords in their seasons, fish and wild fowl in abundance.—The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of Tobacco, Wheat and Indian Corn, and the plaister has been found from experience to act on it admirably. There are now about 100 acres in clover, some of which is well set. The improvements are a new two story dwelling house 16 by 40 feet, kitchen, barn, stables, carriage house, with every other necessary out house, the whole in good repair. There is also a wind-mill in good order, the toll of which affords meal enough for the support of the farm.—Also, one other tract containing 115 acres in the forest, about three miles distant, entirely in the wood. There is a well of excellent water in the yard, and several springs on different parts of the farm. The premises may be viewed, and the terms known by application to the subscriber. Should the above farm be unsold on the 1st of Sept. next, I will lease it for a term of years.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
